

Connecting through Chaos

*Arelion

70% of leaders are losing sleep over data security

1/3 don't know where all their data is stored

47% are not completely confident about their regulatory compliance

35% rank network security as their greatest concern

In a world of constant disruption, corporate data protection has become one of the greatest challenges facing organizations today.

From geopolitical tensions and regulatory shifts to artificial intelligence (AI), the forces shaping today's digital landscape are placing unprecedented pressure on enterprise network security. Download report