

Global reach you can trust

High-performance IP Transit for TITAN International Wholesale

Challenge

As a global wholesale voice and SMS aggregator, TITAN International Wholesale needed a network partner able to support expanding international operations with consistent performance, reliability, and scalability. Its business depends on high-quality connectivity across Africa, the Middle East, and South America, where stable routes and low latency are essential. TITAN was looking for a resilient global backbone, responsive technical support, and the flexibility to scale with future growth.

Solution

Arelion provided TITAN with a high-performance IP Transit solution that integrated smoothly into its global network infrastructure, with efficient onboarding and fast service activation. Account management and technical support act as an extension of TITAN's own network operations, anticipating needs and resolving issues before they affect end customers. Arelion combined an extensive global backbone with consistent service quality, flexible commercial terms, and competitive pricing.

Results

TITAN benefits from more stable routes and consistent quality on its strategic destinations in Africa, the Middle East, and South America. Capacity to absorb growing voice and SMS volumes without re-engineering the network has allowed TITAN to take on new interconnects and enter new markets with confidence. Faster escalation paths and proactive communication have reduced troubleshooting time, freeing the team to respond more quickly to its own customers.

Solution overview

Industry

Telecoms, wholesale voice and SMS

Geography

Global; Africa, Middle East, South America

Function

Wholesale voice and SMS, network operations

Business value driver

Stable, high-quality global routes and headroom to scale, so TITAN can grow volumes and enter new markets without re-engineering its network.

Solution elements

Arelion IP Transit running on our #1 IP network, with fast onboarding, proactive support, and flexible commercial terms.

“Working with Arelion has been an excellent experience. Their reliable global network, responsive support team, and commitment to customer success have made Arelion a trusted partner in supporting our international growth.”

— TITAN International Wholesale, Inc.